Why Will They Be So Thoughtless and Careless Even About Matters Which Concern Their Beauty?

The plainest features become pretty in the biasest leathires become pretty when clothed with a fresh, velvety skim. It is in the power of every woman to have a soft, fine skin, thus adding much to her charms, if she will devote a little time and care to her tellet. It should be a duty as well as a pleasure to every woman to enhance her powers of attractiveness. So says the highest authority in London. But nothing can be more absured than for any lady to try to be beautiful simply by powdering the face or by applying cream or ointment. These things are necessary, it is true: but something else is more important. Good, refreshing sleep. Warm circulating blood which never permits cold feet or bine noses. These things make beauty quicker than any powders or lotions can. But, my lady reader says, how can this be done! Keep the blood moving by some gentle stimulant, and for this purpose nothing is equal to pure whisky. Not the whisky one commently hears of, not the questionable kind that is drank by gross men in grosser places, but something pure, palatable and pleasing. This is precisely what Dury's Pure Mail Whisky is and what has made it so immeasurably popular. The best dectors in the land prescribe it.
